The Sunday school of the Reformed Church observed Children's Day on Sunday. The program included two songs, "Sunshine and Rain" and "Who Will Guide Childhood?" which were sung by Marion Terwilliger and Lois Carnright; a song, "Children of the Heavenly King," sung by the entire Sunday school; a recitation, "Flowers of Gallilee," by Baird Randolph, and a pageant entitled, "Children from Sunshine Land." The cast of characters of this pageant consisted of a queen and seven spirits. Miss Irene DuBois, in a net dress with long net train and trimmed with real daisies, took the part of the queen.

Babson on Business

Vacation a Sound Investment

Babson Park, Mass., June 15—The coming three months will set a new high-water mark in the recreation business. More people will spend more money on their vacations this year than ever before. The conditions which control tourist activity are ideal. The recreation business—which 50 years ago was one of our smallest—will finish up the 1937 season as one of the nation's leading industries.

General business today is only 10 per cent below the 1929 peak. We have experienced two years of feverish activity. Now the pressure is off. Business is heading into a summer slack-spot. Workers who have stayed on the job and made hay while the sun was shining are eager to take advantage of this let-down. National income has jumped 75 per cent since the depression low. Stock prices are up 200 per cent and dividends and payments are five to 10 times larger than in the dark days of 1932 and 1933. Pay envelopes are back to 1929 figures and employment totals are close to all-time highs. People have the money to spend this year. Equally important is the fact that people have the will to spend.

The trend of the day "easy come, easy go." I believe that one of the biggest mistakes the government has made is to enact legislation which penalizes saving and encourages spending. The desire to accumulate for the "rainy day" has been blasted by depression ravages and New Deal policies. People today are pleasure-bound. This desire for amusement is a bigger and bigger factor each year in the recreation business. BUT, remember this: Although you, as an individual, are primarily dependent upon how you use your working time, the good of the community mainly depends upon how you use your leisure.

Using Florida, California, and the winter cruises as a barometer of this summer's travel, I can safely predict a record season. Roughly, 50,000,000 people will take some form of vacation. My forecast is that 1937 recreation expenses should run above $5,500,000,000. This total includes all items from swim-suit sales to hotel receipts. Hotels and tourist cabins will receive about $1,000,000,000. The same amount will go for transportation, automobiles, and gasoline. Merchants will pick up over $1,000,000,000, and another billion will be left at eating places. Amusement enterprises will collect half a billion. While over $500,000,000 will single through registers at penny-stands, soda-fountains, and other miscellaneous ventures.

Millions Have Stake

These huge outlays put the recreation industry among the leading national businesses—ranking above even our giant steel and fuel industries. Moreover, I estimate that more people probably secure their entire or partial livelihood from this business than any other national industry with the exception of farming and retail trade. Including all employees—from the huge personnel of swanky, summer hotels to individual peanut vendors—millions of people have a stake in the industry. A good summer season means prosperity in thousands of towns and villages from the green woods of Northern Canada to the white beaches of Southern California. But we must not forget that the 1937 vacation mecca is at the partial expense of the merchants at home in Kalamazoo.

This growing custom of an annual vacation is one of the soundest trends in North America today. Vacation bills usually represent money wisely spent. A complete rest and change—not only from the daily routine, but also from the distressing news of labor strife at home and the war-rattling overseas—is not a luxury; it is a necessity. The world is changing rapidly. Canada and the United States are in the midst of this social and economic revolution. We are living in a New Era. Success in any profession or business means keeping abreast of the shifting tides. New policies must be adopted. Clear heads, keen minds, and healthy bodies are needed more now than ever.

Get a Fresh Viewpoint

Most of our problems, however, are not basically new. They have always been with us. They are simply the current instalment of an age-old serial. History's experience says that these issues cannot be solved by means of bills and acts alone. Only through proper teaching do people's hearts and minds change and the real reforms come true. On many occasions in these articles I have spoken of the need of a spiritual awakening to save the world from itself. By that I mean the development of usefulness, a new desire to be useful, a new pride in a job well-done, and a new allegiance to the Golden Rule. Just as democracy is the hope of tomorrow's world, so spirituality is the hope of tomorrow's democracy.

A vacation can be one big step toward this spiritual goal. A complete change of atmosphere brings a fresh viewpoint. A thorough rest from routine brings a new realization of individual opportunities and capabilities. No continent in the world has more beauty-spots or a finer climate than our own North America. The important point is to close your desk and turn your eyes away for a week or two. Both as an employer and a worker, I have observed the vacation stimulus from all angles for 30 years. My conclusion is that a thorough change for a few weeks each summer is a good investment for every man and woman!

Farmers in Cherypa county, Nebraska, have formed pest-control organizations—not for political purposes but to fight grasshoppers. Crows will scatter poison bait over the grassy country.

Max Gruberg, owner of the World's Exposition, the carnival playing near the airport, across the Washington avenue viaduct, tells a story of having climbed from the humble position of a window cleaner to owner of a show that is worth a quarter of a million dollars.

And, to make the story more interesting, Max says he started right here in Kingston 35 years ago, and that he has relatives living here now. Joe Gruberg, the electrician and David Gruberg, delicatessen operator, are his cousins. His brother, Morris, has a farm on the Boulevard, near Kingston.

Max came to Kingston with Morris 25 years ago. He started the window cleaning business, a new field in this territory, and after two years, sold it to two Newburgh youths for enough money to take him to Chicago. He arrived in the Windy City with 15 cents.

In the west he joined his other brother, Ruben, on the Nat Reins show, playing all of the larger fairs throughout the country. He severed connections and formed his own organization later, and, besides traveling, established permanent museums in Philadelphia, New York, Washington, Jacksonville, Fla., and Miami.

What a unique carnival a combination of my paramount museums would make, thought Max! So he carried out his idea and played all of the larger expositions and fairs in the Chicago fair and the Dallas Centennial.

Bright lights and attractive decorations, says Gruberg, made him successful in the show business. This year he spent $40,000 dressing up his carnival, before it went on the road for the summer.

He boasts of being a real Kentucky Colonel, with official papers from the state, also of a happy family life and a beautiful daughter who attends the University of Pennsylvania. The Colonel, who is in his 40's, likes Kingston, too, but is not sorry he sold his window cleaning business to move out 25 years back.

STONE RIDGE

Mrs. Ervin Schoonmaker, Miss Nellie Eckert, Mrs. Virgil Wagar, Miss Kate Clearwater, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Garrison and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gillespie were among those who attended the supper at the High Falls Reformed Church on Wednesday evening.

After a delightful evening refreshments of sandwiches, cake, nut bread, coffee and lemonade were served. The guests departed wishing Mrs. Jacobson many happy returns of her birthday.

Mrs. Millie Hendricks has returned home after spending two weeks with her son, Luther Hendricks and family at Roslyn.

Mrs. John McMahon of East Durham, Miss Gertrude Murta and Mrs. William Armstrong of Sunside were guests on Wednesday of the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Baker at the M. E. parsonage.

Mrs. C. Partonoff is spending some time in New York with her daughter, Mrs. Howard Kneller.

Local Woman Heads Baptist Group

Mrs. Clarence E. Brown, wife of the Rev. C. E. Brown of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, was elected to the presidency of the Hudson River Central Baptist Association at the annual meeting held in the Oak Street Baptist Church in Newburgh. Other officers elected for a three year term were: Mrs. Thomas W. Moore of Newburgh, first vice-president; Mrs. William E. Simmons of Kingston, second vice-president; Mrs. Harry Klothe of Kingston, secretary; Mrs. Norman Conklin of New York, treasurer.

An invitation was received from the First Baptist Church of Middletown for the association to hold its next annual meeting in that city.

BETWITCHING GOWNS TRAP CHINESE WAITRESSES

Peking, China, (AP)—Because their dresses were "so bewitching as to make them unseemly to look at," two waitresses were arrested in Peking.

At the same time, a high school issued an order forbidding the students to curl their hair. Those who have already had permanent must register and if they are found indulging in the practice again, they will be punished.

Enjoy Picnic
The children of the lower Sawkill school enjoyed a picnic at Forsyth Park. Among those present were Stanley, Helen, Philip and Paul Boles, Joseph and Mary Busanese, Jimmy and Bobby Rutledge, and the teacher, Miss Ellen Sheehan.

Some One Played Joke on Sergeant

Sergeant-at-arms Lewis Sharp of the common council, who in the days of not so long ago was a noted bicycle rider, is again taking up the pastime and is riding a wheel with which he won fame as a rider a quarter of a century ago. Sergeant Sharp, who is superintendent of the city hall, rides the wheel back and forth to the city hall, and when not using it parks it in the lower corridor.

This morning he saw a group of interested spectators gathered about the place where he had parked his bicycle. He investigated and found that they were deeply interested in reading a sign that someone had hung on the wheel.

The sign, in large black letters, read: "This wheel was first ridden by George Washington at the Battle of Bull Run."

MT. MARION

Mt. Marion, June 17—Mr. and Mrs. George Myer, of Union City, N. J., motored to Mt. Marion on Sunday to attend the Children's Day exercises.

Mrs. Theodore Whitaker, and children, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Law.

Mrs. Mary Weeks, of Kingston, had the misfortune to fall Saturday evening, and suffered a shattered aneurism of the right arm. Mrs. Weeks had just arrived at the home of her niece, Mrs. John Dederick, to spend the summer. She is now in the Kingston Hospital under the care of Dr. Ritchie.

Last week was one full of birthdays in Mt. Marion. Those celebrating were Nan Gillison, Ralph Bogart, Dorothy Briggs and Harvey Knight. Harvey celebrated his first birthday and was given a party by Mrs. John Dederick to which all the 4-H girls and their small sisters and brothers were invited.

The Mt. Marion school will hold graduation exercises on Sunday evening in the Plattkill Reformed Church. The Rev. Arthur Oudemool, of Kingston, will give the address.

Mrs. William Myer returned to her home from the Kingston Hospital Friday.

On Thursday evening, June 10, friends and neighbors to the number of 35 gave Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snyder a skimmington. Friends from Saugerties, Lake Katrine, Ruby, Mt. Marion and Kingston, gathered opposite the church in the falling dusk and descended on the Snyder home amidst a tumult of noise which only ceased when Mrs. Snyder appeared and invited everyone in. Miss Bertha Snyder served delicious refreshments and a social time was enjoyed by everyone. Congratulations were offered in song to the newly married pair and the evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Good Night Neighbors" to the tune of "Merrily We Roll Along."

Miss Isabel Young, of St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, spent Sunday with her parents here.

The following took part in Children's Day exercises at Plattkill Reformed Church on Sunday evening, Beverly Gaddis, the Rev. Irving Decker, of Katsbaan, Barbara Slater, James Felton, Sam Branch, Catherine Yerry, Eleanor and Albert Martin, Marion Scheffel, the Rev. Stephen Ryder, of Flatbush. The church was banked with fragrant flowers and the exercises were given before a large audience.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been referred to the board of health: Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Heins of 338 Foxhall avenue, a daughter, Donna Jeanne, at Kingston Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. John F. Johnson of 66 South Manor avenue, a daughter, Marilyn Ann, at Kingston Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Osterhout of Kerhonkson, a daughter, Charlotte Ann, at Benedictine Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Christopher P. Donnelly of 39 Lafayette avenue, a daughter, Mary Ellen, at Benedictine Hospital.

Relief Compromise Backed.

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The Senate's Democratic and Republican leaders backed a compromise today in the heated controversy over local relief contributions. Senator Robinson (D-Ark.) submitted an amendment to the $1,500,000,000 relief bill requiring states and cities—if able—to bear 25 per cent of the cost of non-federal projects. It was suggested originally by Senator McNary (R-Ore.).

TIED LIGHT

We're glad to learn from a recent talk by Dr. Arthur Haas of the University of Notre Dame that the universe isn't really blowing up and going to pieces, as scientists have been telling us for a couple of decades.
 It's all a mistake about light, he explains. Light has been regarded as something which, once started on its way through space, kept right on forever at the same speed, the one thing in the universe that never wore out. It made a perfect measuring stick. You knew just how fast light traveled, and could figure just how long it took the light from a given star to reach your eye.

More than that, you could tell whether that star was coming toward you or moving away from
 you. If it was running away, the light would seem to be coming slower. That slowing down could be seen when the light passed through a prism—a wedge-shaped piece of glass which spreads out the light rays into a colored spectrum. There would be a "red shift". That is,
 the light would be shifted toward the red end of the spectrum. On the basis of that test, all the most distant stars having a "red shift",
 seemed to be running away, at a rate which increased with the distance. The universe was expanding at a terrific rate, apparently going to pieces. You can imagine where that would leave us in a few million years.

Now Dr. Haas says the queer behavior of the light from great distances is caused simply by its getting tired, wearing out and slowing down, so that the universe isn't exploding after all, but is probably steady enough to keep going in an orderly way for billions of years.
 It's very reassuring, and not even governments with a red shift will have to do anything about it.

WOMEN INVENTORS

At the National Inventors' Congress in New York 16 per cent of the new gadgets on exhibition were invented by women. It used to be said that women were not inventive in this way at all. They seemed to have a peculiar talent for performing certain crude mechanical operations with bent hairpins, but nothing more. If it had depended on their inventiveness they would never have had the household appliances
 and conveniences now found in most American homes. Perhaps that used to be so, but the condition is changing. When a modern woman is annoyed by the inefficiency of the household routine or process, she gets busy and invents some article
 to lighten a task and speed its completion.

So we now have the skein-winder
 which makes it unnecessary for a patient human being to hold the yarn while another rolls it into a neat ball. We have, too, the cake of soap embedded in a good-sized sponge. This produces a generous lather as the bather wants without endangering life or limb with slippery soap on the floor of the tub.
 A perpetual calendar and a new type
 of hair curlers were also presented,
 the inventions of women. These are very modest beginnings, indeed, but there is no knowing what more will follow.

BRITAIN AT SOUTH POLE

The Imperial Conference in London, just ended, by its few accomplishments demonstrated that the independence of the dominions is the real thing. Beyond agreeing on cooperation for defense, the prime ministers found they had little in common except the English language and enthusiasm for South Polar real estate. In a surprise move toward the end of the conference they adopted unanimously the report of the Polar committee which recommended expansion of British sovereignty in the Antarctic. The purpose, hardly colonization, seems to be possession of rich deposits of coal

 and other mineral resources located there.
 British and American expeditions have been in Antarctica in recent years. Both have claimed certain sections of that frozen region for their governments. So, too, has Lars Christensen, who dropped a flag from an airplane to claim a small piece for Norway. Immediate use of the Antarctic mineral wealth is clearly out of the question. No one knows how long it may be before serious exploitation will be either needed or possible. Therefore there is no reason for nations to quarrel
 about it. Admiral Richard E. Byrd, who has spent four years down there,
 says there is enough land to go around for all claimants, without injuring any of them.

HEADACHES

A Philadelphia doctor attending the Atlantic City convention of the American Medical Association demonstrated a device which is said
 to pick out a patient's type of headache accurately. That done, the physician can go ahead without delay in his efforts to remedy it. The machine is called a "cephalogram-gram." It produces pressure in the spine and measures it. The measurements in turn indicate the kind of headache and usually the part of the nervous system in which it starts.

If the device is all its inventor
 claims, no doubt it will be useful,
 but it comes a little late. The causes of headaches are better understood today than formerly, and more is known about getting at the fundamental cause instead of merely easing
 the acute discomfort in the head.

LIFE DEPENDS ON LIVER

It would seem that the old expression "Life depends upon the liver",
 is becoming popular again as there is more written about the liver and gall bladder today than at any previous time.

As youngsters we were taught that the work of the liver was to manufacture bile which acted on fat foods in such a way that they could be absorbed into the blood. And while this is still an important job done by the liver, it is but one of the many things the liver does for us to make life worth living. The others, as mentioned before, are:
 Storing sugar for future needs, filtering poisons out of the blood, manufacturing substances to form
 the blood. A healthy liver, working properly, has much to do also in preventing skin eruptions, stomach
 and intestinal upsets, and attacks of hay fever, asthma and eczema, due to foods to which the individual is sensitive or allergic.

The bile is considered so valuable
 by the liver that after sending some down into the small intestine to help
 digest fats, it calls this bile back again and uses it over and over again.

Someone has called this bile that goes back the "self starter" of the liver, as it seems to start or increase the activity of the liver. In fact, it has been proven that bile injected into the liver direct has actually built up or repaired worn portions of the liver, showing that "bile is an important factor in stimulating the activity of the liver tissue."

Years ago ox-gall (bile) was given to patients suffering with jaundice,
 and also in indigestion with much gas formation. Today ox-gall—bile salts—is being used by many to stimulate a sluggish liver and gall bladder. Unfortunately many preparations, in addition to ox-gall or bile, contain other purgatives or cathartics and the "cathartic habit"
 may be established.

If you are old, weak or sick, and your liver need stimulating, the use of bile salts as recommended by your physician should be helpful.

For the average or well individual
 the liver can be stimulated, more bile manufactured and more bile
 made to flow, by any exercise that squeezes the liver—bending the body
 forward, backwards, sideways (knees straight) or deep breathing which sends the floor of the chest down and so squeezes the liver.

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon of the Lazy Nine ranch surprises a desperate young man preparing to set a forest fire, and covers him with her gun. She thinks him the frebug the whole county is hunting. The man, Ted Gaynor, hoped to get a job fire fighting to buy food for his mother and sister. Kay believes him when he says it is his first attempt to set a fire. She tells him to join her outfit and he gratefully accepts. They are just starting when Tom Runyon, the fire patrol, rides up and eyes Ted suspiciously. Spotting the brush
 pile, Runyon strides over to it.

Chapter Three

Fooling The Fire Patrol

KAY turned swiftly to Ted Gaynor.
 "Go now and get your horse,
 and make a get-away. Come over to the Lazy Nine this evening, or tomorrow morning."

"And leave you here alone to face the music?" Ted Gaynor stubbornly shook his head. "Not me.
 I'm standing by."

"You must do as I say! Don't you see you make it harder by staying? I can manage much better without you." Kay urged desperately. "Hurry! Go now, before he gets to the pile, and tells you to stay."

As Ted still hesitated, Kay resorted to pleading. "Please! You said I wouldn't be sorry for what I've done! And if you insist on staying, I will be sorry."

"If you put it that way, I've got to go."

Again Kay was surprised by his slow smile, and the way it lighted
 up his face, wiping out the dogged look of despair, and making it alive
 and eager.

"So long."

Before she could answer, he was running noiselessly through the woods, and she watched him disappear down the steep slope, just

of amazement and injured innocence, as she gazed disbelievingly
 at him. "Honestly now, you don't think I look like a frebug, do you?"
 She ended with a light laugh,
 crinkling up her nose so that her eyes almost disappeared under her dark lashes.
 "Naturally, I don't think you did it," he answered. "But I'm not so sure about that scrawny guy you had with you."

"I give you my word he'll never set a forest fire," Kay heard her voice give this calm assurance with a certain inner amazement. Why was she so sure about this man whom she had actually caught in the act she was trying to shield
 him from? There was no time to think it out now, but every instinct cried out in her to protect
 him. Kay's general hunch in life was to follow her intuition first in an emergency, and reason it out afterwards.

"You can come over to the ranch
 and see him anytime," she added,
 easily, "that is, any time after tomorrow. He isn't going back tonight."

"Seeing as you vouch for this puncher of yours, I reckon I'll have to look somewhere else for my frebug," Tom Runyon turned and walked slowly back beside Kay.

"I was going to suggest riding back with you," he added ruefully, "but my hunch is to stick around here
 and wait for whoever set that pile
 to come and finish off the job."

"That's just what I thought you'd do!" Kay tried to cover the relief in her tone with a flattering note
 of admiration.

"Sure it's what I'm going to do," Runyon answered with a pleased laugh. "You can trust me to be Johnny-on-the-spot, even in the face of such temptation." He made her a gallant bow.

There's Seth To Persuade KAY felt a vague sense of withdrawal from his admiring glance, but she smiled back at him
 as she picked up Flicker's reins

Waving her hand, Kay gave Flicker a touch of her heel and was off.

as a shout from Tom Runyon rang
 out from the opposite direction.
 "What is it?" she called in answer to a second imperative shout.
 "I'm coming."

Walking swiftly toward him,
 she summoned all her forces to meet the difficult situation ahead.
 Unless she kept her wits, she, too,
 would be involved in the ugly suspicion that that pile of brush was sure to raise.

Intuition As Guide
 "LOOK at this!" Tom Runyon called grimly, as she came in sight. Then, seeing her alone, he added, "Where's that guy that was with you?"

"I sent him on ahead," Kay answered easily, surprised at the calmness of her tone, considering
 the way her heart was pounding.
 "What have you found?"

"I've found plenty, and I want to ask that bird some questions.
 He raised his voice again in a prolonged shout, 'Come back here!'
 'He won't hear you,' Kay broke
 in. 'He's well on his way down the ridge by this time. You mean—'
 she gave a well feigned start of surprise at the pile of brush Runyon pointed out, 'you mean, you think someone was setting a fire
 here?'

"I don't think I know," Tom Runyon began kicking the pile of brush to scatter it.

"Well, you don't think I or one of my punchers did it, do you?"
 Kay's voice held a perfect mixture

and grasped the saddle to mount.
 Swinging into the saddle before he had a chance to help her, she answered gravely, "I'm mighty glad
 we have such a dependable new fire patrol."

"You bet you have," Tom Run-
 yon boomed in a gratified voice,
 and you can depend on another thing, too. He isn't going to let any grass grow under his feet before he accepts that invitation to come over to the Lazy Nine."

"We'll be glad to see you anytime," Kay answered. Waving her hand, she gave Flicker a touch of her heel and was off.

Her thoughts filled with the strange events of the afternoon as she absent-mindedly guided Flicker down the steep trail. She gave him free rein as they reached the range, and he broke into an easy
 canter.

There was time now to consider
 more calmly her impulsive action
 in shielding Ted Gaynor, and plan
 him to Seth Jordan, her foreman.
 Seth had been a member of the Lazy Nine outfit since before Kay was born, and she could always depend on his devotion and loyalty, but it was going to take some ingenuity to persuade him that they needed a new puncher right
 now.

Shanghai, (AP).—German-built
 speedboats equipped with two torpedo tubes and capable of a speed of 45 miles an hour are the latest acquisitions of the Chinese government. Two of the craft have been delivered here and it is understood
 eight more are to follow.

It is reported that the deadly craft are to be stationed in the

 from the Pacific ocean. A dozen similar craft, built in Britain, are reported to have arrived up the river.

Rake-Tooth Hoe

One of the neatest and most generally useful of the hoe tribe is the blade for the purpose of cultivation, stirring the soil where it is not necessary to uproot weeds. This hoe, light in weight, makes cultivation
 easy after the heaviest growth of weeds has been destroyed by the heavier bladed hoe.

Seeing And Hearing

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE kingfisher was perched on an old branch of a tree and now
 he was looking down into the water, studying it carefully.

Suddenly he gave a splendid dive and came up with a fish.

"He has caught his breakfast," laughed Willy Nilly.

The next birds they saw were woodpeckers, giving a crisp call of "Peckee—peckee—penk." The ones Willy Nilly called the hairy woodpeckers were near some woods and were shyer—also larger than those the little man called the downy woodpeckers.

"They certainly do peck at the bark of trees," Willy Nilly said.
 "And they know how to find the insects in the trees."

They were handsome birds, the Puddles. Muddlers thought, with their black and white wings and big beaks and bright eyes and touches of red on the heads. But Top Notch, with his eye for looks,
 thought the red-headed woodpeckers which they saw later on were particularly handsome.

"They're the wicked ones of the family," said Willy Nilly.

"Let Top Notch admire their red heads and black wings trimmed with white, and their red breasts," said Christopher, "but I'm glad they're not perfect."

"They sometimes," whispered Willy Nilly, "eat the eggs of other birds, although they do eat lots of bad insects and grubs."

"Just like an us," cawed
 Christopher Columbus Crow,
 "with a mixture of bad and good."

"Mostly bad, if we're thinking of you, and all good if we're thinking of Willy Nilly," bleated Sweet Face, the lamb.

Pomona at Accord

(Official Report)

The regular quarterly meeting of the Ulster County Pomona Grange was held on Friday, June 4, with Patron Grange in Accord.

The worthy Pomona Master Albert Kurdt opened the meeting in the fifth degree. The opening song was "Rise of Time," sung by all the members.

After reading the minutes of the March meeting the worthy secretary,
 Sister Mary E. Brink, read the reports of the Granges as follows:

Clintondale Grange No. 957, reported one new member. Attendance at meetings is good and all officers attending regularly. The social and hospitality committee has been very active. A portion supper and a father and son banquet were held and both were very successful. Huguenot Grange brought the "Peace Flag" to Clintondale. A fine program was presented, including a splendid address on "Peace," by the Rev. B.
 R. Bronson. The worthy deputy,
 Harold V. Story, visited Clintondale Grange.

Highland Grange No. 888, reported a card party, a broiler, supper
 and dance, also American Legion, Court Nilan, and Father and Son banquets. The "Peace Flag" was brought to Highland by Patron Grange. Highland took the flag to Plattekill Grange. Ten dollars was donated to the Revolving Scholarship Fund. A number of members cleaned up the little cemetery. The Juvenile Grange presented a program.

Homewack Grange No. 956, reported seven new members added.
 The social and hospitality committee has been very active. The sum of a spelling bee and doughnut contest.

 Entertained Rosendale Grange when they brought the Peace Flag.

Huguenot Grange No. 1028, have received five new members. The most outstanding activity of Hugue-

 done to repair their hall. A new roof has been put on the building painted and a new front entrance is to be built. Successful dinners and card parties have been held. Huguenot received the Peace Flag from Platte-kill Grange.

Lake Katrine Grange No. 1065, is planning to paint and clean the kitchen and dining room. Had a get-together supper in April, which was successful and all had a jolly time. The social and hospitality committee is active and served a cafeteria lunch to members of the 4-H Clubs at a convention held in the Grange Hall. Many members have joined the hospital three cents a day plan. Fruit aid flowers have been sent to the sick members. All the literary programs have been interesting.

Milton Grange No. 884, has held very worthwhile meetings. The literary programs have been very practical and instructive in regard to fertilizer, care of different fruits and preparing trees for planting. The worthy deputy, Harold V. Story, visited the Grange in May.

Mt. Tremper Grange No. 1468, reported social and hospitality committee active and held several

Parent-Teacher Associations

Kingston High School.

At the regular meeting of the Kingston High School Parent-Teacher Association on Tuesday afternoon, the following officers were installed: Mrs. Arthur H. Windrum, president; Clarence Dumm, second vice president; Miss Ione Kinkade, secretary; Mrs. A. DuBois, treasurer.

WOODSTOCK FINAL

Woodstock, June 18—The last Parent-Teacher Association meeting of the season was held in the Woodstock library on Tuesday afternoon. Before the introduction of the speaker, Frank Walser, an outline of the year's activities was read. Of these, important ones were talks by Katherine Murphy, county nurse, and S. J. Barham, district superintendent of the association hospital service. Miss Murphy spoke on the work of the Ulster County Committee on tuberculosis and public health, and Mr. Barham on the three-cent-a-day hospitalization plan. Gifts of books were made to each room of the school for Christmas. A panel discussion was held early this spring on "Communism, Fascism and Democracy". From this nearly $10 was added to the treasury. Through an appeal from the P-T-A a much needed piano was presented to the Woodstock school by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peper. The sum of $8.23 was spent for rhythm band equipment for the school. The grand climax of the season was the Children's Day of the Sesquicentennial in which children of all Woodstock schools, and the Daisy school as well, participated. It was the first time that the children from all the schools had ever joined in so large a program.

Following this report Mr. Walser, Woodstock author and lecturer, was introduced by the new president, Mrs. George Layman. He spoke on the forming of discussion groups and other recreational types of education. He has organized groups here and in Europe so entertained and informed his audience from a wealth of experience.

Before closing the meeting a committee was selected to plan for a Fourth of July get-together for children and adults from all over the township. There are to be competitive games, prizes, group singing and each participant will bring fireworks which will be saved for a community display at the end of the evening. The

Will Buy New Engine

Woodstock, June 18—The 48 Woodstock taxpayers who voted at the special election on the purchase of a new fire engine cast their ballots unanimously in favor of purchasing the engine as contracted for by the fire commissioners last December. The new engine is to be purchased from the Sanford Co. and the chassis from the local dealers, Wilson

Bros. The engine is to cost $3,000, to be paid for by two bonds of $1,500 each on the Town of Woodstock. There will be no increased taxation on the fire district as the payments on the bond raised for the present engine will be completed when new payments start.

The senate has loaned Santa Claus a helping hand by approving more abundant Christmas stockings for capitol workers. The senate passed and sent to the White House a bill to give congressional employees their December pay checks five days before Christmas instead of at the end of the month.

WHAT IS HOMEWITHOUT A
GARDEN?Square Deal for Plants
Means a Square Meal

Plants are living things, that's why they need a square meal. Like other forms of life, plants breathe, reproduce and require food. There is one big difference between plants and other living things in that plants cannot pick-up and go if food is not plentiful in the soil which supports them.

Under natural conditions you will only find flowers, grass and other vegetation in places where the soil is fertile. But, though we love a garden with beautiful lawns, flowers, shrubs and trees, few of us consider the fertility of the soil in determining where to locate our homes. The result is that most of the homes in cities and towns are surrounded by soil which is deficient in many of the elements plants require for growth. Only through proper plant feeding can these soils be made to produce beautiful gardens.

There is another factor of the home garden which makes plant feeding at regular intervals necessary. Whereas in the natural forests dead vegetation is permitted to decay and return to the soil, custom demands that we keep our gardens free from such wastes. As a substitute many of us have compost piles and while they are good sources of organic matter much of the plant food has leached away before the material can be used. Proper plant feeding keeps fertile soils in a highly productive state.

The surest way to assure all of your growing things a square meal is to feed them with a plant food that contains all of the elements they require from the soil. Your gardening supply dealer has them for sale at reasonable prices, and only 4 pounds of complete plant food is necessary to properly feed 100 square feet of lawn or garden area.

Another feature of these scientific plant foods is that they are clean and odorless. Try complete plant food this year, using it according to the directions which come with every package.

GIVE YOUR PLANTS PLENTY OF ROOM AND A SQUARE MEAL

By The Master Gardener

How a real gardener hates to destroy a plant! So, to us an old and homely expression, it's like "pulling teeth" to thin out your vegetables and flowers—but most necessary, I assure you. Your children require room to grow—they resent undue restriction, and just as surely, by weakened growth, do your plants resent being crowded. Will lettuce form heads if you don't thin out the seedlings? Will you have radishes that have enjoyed that rapid unhampered growth which results in crisp tender sweet crunchiness if you don't give them plenty of room to develop and grow quickly? And so on through the list.

And ditto for your flowers. I am I am speaking now of annuals, both those which require transplanting and those which must be thinned in the original planting site. Crowded plants, with no room for either roots or top to develop, with a limited feeding area for each plant, result in spindly, leggy plants that bloom late, and have very few and small flowers—if any.

Your plants must have an adequate supply of food, too, if they are to make satisfactory growth. Now is the time to give another feeding of a complete balanced plant food to your vegetable and flower garden.

The plants which are removed in the thinning process can be transplanted to another section of the garden if there is space available. If you plan to do this, be careful in taking the plants out of the ground so that you do not break off many of the hair roots. The best way is to dig them out with a small trowel. Thoroughly prepare the soil in which you are going to transplant the extra plants. Incorporate a supply of complete plant food in the top few inches of soil. This will give the plants the added nourishment they need to help them make up the time they will lose as the result of transplanting.

Be sure to shade the transplanted plants from the very hot sun of the afternoons until they are thoroughly established in their new home. Boards propped on inverted flower pots afford a simple way of providing the necessary shade. Immediately after transplanting, water the plants thoroughly and continue to water frequently, at least until you are sure that the roots have taken hold.

Grow Plenty of "Glads"

It takes from sixty to eighty days for a gladiolus bulb to blossom. The shortest time applies in the case of primivulus varieties, and hybrids having part primivulus ancestry, the longest in the case of such giant flowered varieties as Betty Nuthall.

Large bulbs blossom earlier than small ones and so are preferred for late planting. By keeping these points in mind it is possible to have gladiolus flowers about when you want them by planting the bulbs at varying dates. Planting can be continued until July 1, with primivulus varieties preferred at that time.

Most gladiolus fanciers favor late planting so that flowers will come in August and September. June 15 is a good time to plant for the fall show, and late flowers usually find weather conditions more favorable to their development.

The gladiolus is easiest of all summer flowers to grow. In hot summers they suffer from thrip injury, and bulbs which have been carried over from the old garden should be treated to kill these insects. The quickest treatment at this time is to dissolve an ounce of mercuric bichloride in a small quantity of hot water and then add sufficient cold water to make seven gallons. Immerse the bulbs for seventeen hours in this solution, then plant immediately.

To protect gladiolus from thrips in the garden they should be sprayed once a week, from the time they are 2 inches tall, with this solution: Paris green 1 ounce, brown sugar 2 pounds, in three gallons of water. This makes the sweet syrup poisoned with arsenic which clings to the foliage and destroys the insects that feed upon it. Use carefully, as it is poisonous to animals.

Alleged Brown Confession Is Admitted as Evidence at Trial

District Attorney Clegg B. Murray closed the prosecution's case against Charles James Brown, charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Handelman at their Ellenville home last April, with the reading of a confession which Brown signed the day he was taken into custody and with the reading of a note of explanation which was attached to a photograph on which Brown had marked the images of Mr. and Mrs. Handelman. "The people I murdered!"

Both exhibits had been admitted in evidence just before the noon recess Thursday and at the opening of County Court at 2:30 o'clock with the permission of Judge Traver, both exhibits were read by Mr. Murray to the jury. Following the reading of the exhibits the jurors were excused while J. Edward Conway, who with Robert G. Groves appears for the defense, made several motions for dismissal of the indictment and the discharge of the defendant on the grounds The People had not proven a case against Brown. The motions were denied and then defense counsel asked for a recess until 10 o'clock this morning before going on with the defense. This was granted.

Prior to the reading of the confessions Mr. Conway made a final objection to their offer on the grounds that the alleged confession contained information of a crime other than that for which Brown was on trial and he insisted this information, about the killing of Mrs. Handelman, was highly prejudicial to the defendant's case. He also objected on the grounds that from the testimony the confession offered was at least in part dictated by the District Attorney and he said the district attorney might have had two papers or alleged confessions separating the crimes.

Despite any instruction of the court for the jury to disregard the references to Mrs. Handelman's death he said it could not be wiped from the minds of the jury and must have some bearing with them.

Crime Continuous Act
Judge Traver said that the crime alleged was a continuous act which involved both of the alleged murders and that all of the matters referred to happened at about the same time and it was impossible to separate them and keep Mrs. Handelman's name out of the case.

"The best I can do is to instruct the jury that we are now trying the Isidore Handelman murder charge and no other. I will again caution the jury as I have repeatedly done in the past, that is the best any court can do," said Judge Traver.

"You can't erase these prejudicial impressions from the jury and the defendant denies this charge is one of a continuous act," replied Mr. Conway.

He then moved again to strike out the testimony given in relation to the confession and the note attached to the picture and asked the court to deny the application to have the confession read to the jury. Denied.

The jury was then brought in and Mr. Murray read the confession and the paper attached to the photograph. The confession which was sworn to, signed by Brown and witnessed by several witnesses said that Brown had come to Ellenville in May, 1936, and he had been a bar-picker and later went to work for Rappaport and Levine; that on April 8 at about 1 or 1:30 o'clock he had gone from Rappaport's down Center street to the O. & W. tracks. He had been to Cohen's Hotel to see Helen Bennett, his girl, and had been ordered away from there. He had not been drinking. He knew of the pinion gear which was in the Rappaport house. He had taken junk to the Handelman home on prior occasions and knew them to be old and living alone. He decided to rob them and took the gear from the Rappaport home after he left the hotel and went out Center street to the O. & W. tracks and along the tracks and to the Handelman home. That was about 1:30 o'clock in the morning. He found the rear door unlocked and went in and lighted the light in the Handelman bedroom after going to the second floor. Isidore and Fannie Handelman were there. Handelman jumped up and Brown stated he struck Handelman in the head. Handelman muttered something in Jewish and fell to the floor. Mrs. Handelman grabbed Brown and he struck her and she fell to the floor with a scream. He went through Handelman's pants which were on the bed and took the money. He searched a dresser. The confession said Handelman had been struck in the front of the face as he faced Brown. Both Mr. and Mrs. Handelman were covered with blood from the blow. Then the paper stated Brown turned off the light and started to leave but returned and lighted a match to search the bed of Mrs. Handelman. He struck a match to look under the mattress and the match dropped on the bed and ignited it. He then left, leaving the back door open. He still had the pinion gear which he decided to get rid of and threw it down the hill over a ditch and returned to Rappaport's. He started to change his clothes but about five minutes after he arrived in the house the fire alarm sounded and he went to the Bleiman fire.

The paper stated that Brown had stopped and talked to Osterhoudt and had looked up toward the Handelman home which was not far distant and saw no fire at the time. He then went to the home of acquaintances and talked for a time and then returned to the Rappaport place and asked Levine and Rappaport to take him to Port Jervis. The confession stated, "I wanted to get out of town because I murdered them."

On the way he told of wanting to get a fur coat out of pawn and Levine and Rappaport asked him if he had money and he showed them the roll which he intended to get his sweetheart's fur coat out of pawn with. It was about 4 o'clock when they left for Port Jervis. He said he told them he would return with them at noon when they returned after he had gotten the fur coat. Near the Erie station in Port Jervis he saw them again but refused to return to Ellenville. The alleged confession told of Brown walking the tracks to Middletown where he called on a family known to him, one Slover on Stanton street. He asked for food but was told no one was up yet and he left. He did not know then of the murder.

He went on to Goshen and near the Orange County Farms he met some hoboes and they gave him a paper in which it was stated that he, Brown, was wanted for the murder. He then returned to the mountains where he hid. He first knew he was wanted for murder on the Sunday following the crime.

Confession Blames Money
The confession read stated that the reason he killed the aged people was because he wanted to obtain money and one statement in the paper said, "they had very little change" and that the aged couple were either "unconscious or dead on the floor when I set fire to the place."

"I made up my mind to kill them because they woke up and would report me," continues the paper.

The paper attached to the picture of Mr. and Mrs. Handelman contained the words that the marks were made on the likeness of "the people I murdered" and is signed by Brown.

The People rested then and while the jury remained out of the court room Mr. Conway made his motions to dismiss.

Among the grounds were the indictment did not charge a "felony murder." He said the indictment did not charge that "while engaged in the commission of another crime" the alleged murder had been committed. The court ruled that the indictment was proper and that in his opening the district attorney had said he intended to prove a "felony murder."

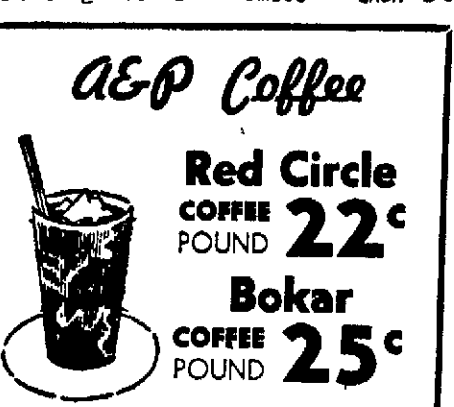

Mr. Conway said further that The People had failed to prove the defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt and also he asked a dismissal of the indictment and discharge of the defendant because the prosecution had failed to establish the corpus delicti and had failed to prove the crime independent of the confession. He asked dismissal on the grounds the prosecution had failed to prove the defendant "burned the body" as charged in the indictment and also asked that the defendant be acquitted on the ground upon which he moved for a dismissal was that The People had failed to prove and as to the cause of death as The People had failed to speculate on evidence as to the cause of death as The People had failed to prove the cause of death. Mr. Conway asked the court to advise the jury to acquit the defendant and he asked for acquittal on the exceptional taken during trial. The motions were denied and the court recessed until this morning after Judge Traver had again stated that he intended to submit the matter to the jury on the theory of a "felony murder."

Bright Picture of Dark Continent Brought to Kiwanis

The Dark Continent was the subject and setting for a bright picture yesterday noon at the Governor Clinton Hotel when Miss Ellen Van Slyke took members of the Kiwanis Club to Africa for a sightseeing trip and a little adventure among the wild animals.

The speaker was introduced by Roger Loughran, past president of the club, who stated in his remarks that Miss Van Slyke had visited Africa and moreover, "had the faculty to describe it vividly."

The trip began with a three weeks' ocean voyage from England via a Dutch boat which set its passengers down at Capetown at the southern tip of the great continent. The route was along the west coast, and the speaker remarked that it was not a specially pleasant journey because of the cloudy weather most of the way.

Capetown, however, brought the end of the journey and with it clear skies and weather much the same as a typical June day, which the English passengers classified as "hot". The speaker said that while the days were warm with much sun, there was always a very cold wind blowing from the south pole which made sitting in parks uncomfortable.

Miss Van Slyke drew an enticing picture of this south African city, picturing its shops and Dutch homes indicative of the early influence in settlement. Trips were paid to outlying places, among them a number of Dutch manor houses, where beautiful gardens made a pretty picture.

Leaving Capetown Miss Van Slyke made a leisurely trip up along the east coast, which journey was warmer than the previous trip down had been, and was interrupted by frequent stops at ports en route.

The next stopover was at Mombasa, where the party debarked and took the narrow gauge railroad to the top of the Kenia plateau, an elevation of some 6,000 feet. Here at the town of Nairobi Miss Van Slyke spent some time. Located at this elevation the sky and air is extremely clear during the dry season, but the sun shines down with such brilliance that from 8 a. m. until late afternoon one does not venture out of doors unless "wearing a double felt hat."

Nairobi was described as a modern city in many ways, but lacked a number of things which American cities consider necessities. It has no sewage system, pavements are broken with patches of dirt roadway, there are few telephones, almost no ice, no public school system and the streets are crowded with Indians. In its favor she recounted its beauty, the number of modern automobiles on the street, a modern hotel and other indications of the up-to-date city.

Side trips to plantations were described with word pictures of the beauties of the country and homes.

The second half of Miss Van Slyke's remarks were concerned with a safari into the wild game country, during which hippos, crocodiles, rhinos, zebras and giraffes were seen. The high point of this journey was the baiting of lions by trailing a newly killed animal behind the car and bringing the lions to camp where the dead body was turned over to the wild beasts for a feast.

President William Byrne expressed the thanks of the club to the speaker after which the meeting adjourned.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Vidas and Raoul Vidas have returned from a winter spent in New York.

Wants to Join Parade.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 18 (AP).—The United Electrical and Radio Workers' Union wants labor to join the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's convention parade Saturday as a protest to what it claims is an "unfair attitude towards organized labor." The union's executive committee urged its own 10,000 workers to march with the firemen after that organization had refused to support a hotel and restaurant workers' strike at their convention hotel (Van Currier). Convention delegates engaged in jocular "counter picketing" in front of the hotel, bearing signs reading: "This is a fine hotel" and "Why pick on us?"

Edward's Still King
Some Tailors Suspect

STYLE LEADER?

With the traditional gray top of Derby day, King George wears a gayly striped tie and striped pocket handkerchief—a slight departure from custom.

By ROBERT S. STROTHER

London (AP).—The big question before gentlemen's tailors, gentlemen's gentlemen and gentlemen is whether Edward VIII also abdicated as king of Saville row.

Long before he became king of England, Edward assumed sovereignty over the men's fashion world, and the tailors are wondering if he isn't likely to keep that title.

Since the coronation some of their number have been trying to build up George VI as the style leader. An expert writing in "Men's Wear" describes the new king's garb at the Chelsea flower show as "a triumph of selection and harmony."

"He wore a double-breasted suit of dark-gray worsted, with attractive herring-bone pattern—a cloth of substance."

"Jacket buttoned two and fitted easily. A white double collar went with blue-striped shirt and gray tie of Greek key pattern. Border of handkerchief matched shirt. Trousers were medium width and turned up at the bottom."

VERSATILE

Brother Edward popularized the beret and set the fashion pace in all fields when he was Prince of Wales and king.

Other writers agreed that the king's aim in dress "seems to be neatness allied with style."

But the tailors, recalling the scores of trends touched off by the Duke of Windsor, are waiting warily for him to emerge from seclusion. Unless he starts wearing overalls they can't be sure that the king isn't king any more.

Council Petitions
Public Service

since on or about the 1st day of January, 1936.

Upon information and belief, that on or about the 28th day of December, 1935, an order was issued by the Public Service Commission of the State of New York directing elimination of the grade crossing of the New York Central Railroad and Broadway in the City of Kingston.

Further, upon information and belief, that this order was affirmed by a further order of the Public Service Commission, dated March 14, 1936.

That thereafter, upon information and belief, the said Public Service Commission of the state of New York issued an order on or about the 6th day of February, 1936, directed to the New York Central Railroad for it to show cause before the Public Service Commission on the 21st day of February, 1936, why said railroad should not prepare the necessary plans, specifications and estimates of cost of such elimination and file the same with the Public Service Commission.

Further, upon information and belief, that on or about the 9th day of April, 1936, the Public Service Commission of the state of New York ordered that the said railroad company file a general plan for such elimination with the commission for its approval on or before June 1, 1936.

The source of petitioner's information and grounds for its belief as to this are copies of orders which your petitioner has seen.

That thereafter in the latter part of January or the early part of February, 1936, your petitioner as mayor of the city of Kingston received a proposed set of plans from the Public Service Commission of the state of New York in reference to the elimination of the above crossing, which proposed plans and specifications had been prepared by the New York Central Railroad Company and filed with the said Public Service Commission pursuant to its order of April 9, 1935.

Together with said plans and specifications your petitioner, as mayor of the city of Kingston, received a letter from the Public Service Commission directing the said city to examine said plans and submit its comment thereon. Your petitioner, as mayor of said city of Kingston, had the proposed plans and specifications examined by the engineering forces of his city, and thereafter a public hearing was had in the city of Kingston on the 24th day of February, 1936, at which hearing said plans were fully discussed and gone over.

That thereafter, on or about the 3rd day of March, 1936, the common council of the city of Kingston, at meeting duly assembled, passed a resolution to the effect that the city of Kingston opposed the elimination of the Broadway crossing pursuant to the plans and specifications heretofore referred to, and enumerated therein various reasons for said opposition, a certified copy of said resolution having been filed with the Public Service Commission of the state of New York on or about the 4th day of March, 1936, a copy of which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof.

Your petitioner hereby states that said plan as proposed and as filed by the said Railroad Company, as heretofore stated, is inadequate, undesirable and in no way meets the needs of the said City of Kingston, and the reasons therefor are stated in the said resolution of the Common Council of the City of Kingston heretofore referred to and filed with your honorable Commission on or about the 4th day of March, 1936.

and a reference is again made to said reasons as contained in said resolution, a copy of which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof.

Your petitioner further states that between the 4th day of March, 1936 and the 12th day of August, 1936, various conferences were had between representative officials of the City of Kingston, including the Mayor thereof, representatives of the Public Service Commission of the State of New York, and representatives of the New York Central Railroad wherein and whereby various other plans were discussed, and as a result thereof a plan known as Scheme "B" Modified was presented to the City of Kingston for its approval. That thereafter, on or about the 11th day of August, 1936, a special meeting of the Common Council of the City of Kingston was held, at which time the Common Council, by a vote of 8 to 5, decided against the plan known as Scheme "B" Modified.

Your petitioner further states that on or about the 15th day of May, 1937, an accident occurred at the Broadway Crossing of the New York Central Railroad in the City of Kingston, which accident involved a collision of a fire truck of the City of Kingston and a train of the New York Central Railroad. As a result of that accident two firemen of the City of Kingston lost their lives. Your petitioner further states that for several years last past other serious accidents have occurred on other crossings of the New York Central Railroad in the City of Kingston, and particularly the crossing known as Gage Street Crossing; the crossing known as Foxhall Avenue Crossing; and the crossing known as Flatbush Avenue Crossing.

Your petitioner further states that as the matter now stands the order of your honorable commission provides for the elimination of the Broadway crossing of the New York Central Railroad in the City of Kingston by depressing Broadway.

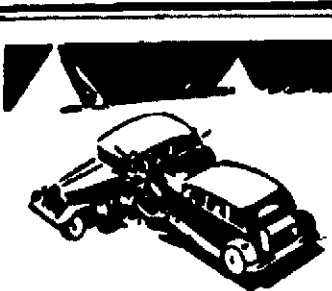

WHEREFORE, your petitioner prays and requests that the above entitled case be re-opened for the purpose of submitting further evidence as to why the Broadway crossing of the New York Central Railroad in the City of Kingston should be eliminated in some manner other than by the depression, and that the New York Central Railroad Company be called upon to prepare plans and specifications for submission to your honorable commission for the purpose of eliminating all of the crossings of the New York Central Railroad Company in the City of Kingston, so that all future accidents may be done away with by having all of the said crossings eliminated at one time.

Plan Picnic for Grand Jurors Asso.

The members of the Ulster County Grand Jurors' Association, with their families and friends, will picnic Sunday, August 15, on the farm of Albert Wilkins at Walker Valley, if action taken by the board of directors is approved by the association.

The directors met at the court house Monday night, 11 members being present, and approved the picnic proposition, which will be acted upon at the regular meeting August 2. The directors hope to have a full attendance at the August 2 meeting to act upon the matter and outline plans for the event.

Members of the association enjoyed Mr. Wilkins' hospitality a year ago and the advantages offered by his estate at Walker Valley, which include a swimming pool for those who enjoy bathing.

At the directors meeting a committee to arrange for tickets was named. The committee is composed of Henry G. Machold, Al. King and Matthew VanTassel.

The chairman of the committee which is drafting a set of by-laws for the association submitted an outline of the proposed by-laws to the directors.

RESODDING OF DUST BOWL WOULD HELP

Expert Doubts That Nature
Can Be Shackled.

Manhattan, Kan.—Dust storms were reported on the plains of the southwest even before the country was settled, and they never can be entirely eliminated, according to Prof. R. I. Throckmorton of Kansas State Agricultural college, who is preparing a drouth report for the Department of Agriculture.

"No one expects the blowing of dust on the plains can be entirely stopped," Throckmorton said. "Dust storms were reported in western Kansas long before the country was settled, and they will probably always continue."

In 1830, according to Throckmorton, the Rev. Isaac McCoy, a missionary to the Indians, crossed Kansas and reported encountering a severe dust storm. Weather reports at Dodge City, Kan., in the early 1890s record similar storms—and that was before the land was put under cultivation.

Grow Worse With Years.

"However," Throckmorton said, "the plow and recent drouths have increased the dust problem immensely. Grass is a natural solution if a successful way of growing sod on dry, sandy soils can be found."

Perhaps the most successful way for farmers to prevent soil erosion by wind is to plant sorghum, grass or other "cover" crops in place of wheat, Throckmorton believes. If the land can be resodded dust storms will diminish appreciably.

"It is not generally known," Throckmorton said, "that not all the sandy soils in southwestern Kansas were in buffalo grass originally. Many areas were covered with blue stem grass—the same variety of grass which covers the Flint hills grazing area of eastern Kansas."

One trouble in connection with resodding the drouth areas, according to Throckmorton, is that of obtaining supplies of wild grass seeds in sufficient quantities.

As a "compromise method" Throckmorton suggested that farmers plant a sorghum crop early in the summer and leave it unharvested so the seed will scatter on the ground and possibly start a volunteer crop the next year.

Other Grasses Suggested.

Then buffalo grass strippings and black gramma seed can be scattered over the area, and sorghum roots holding the soil firm until the grass gets started.

Once the area has been resodded successfully, Throckmorton said, it would be extremely unwise to put it in cultivation again, even in wet years. If individual farmers are unable to keep the land out of cultivation, then the government should buy it and keep it as part of the public domain.

The present widespread practice of listing fields to prevent the soil from blowing is regarded by Throckmorton as merely a temporary expedient and has no part in a long-range program of soil conservation.

Throckmorton is a member of a committee appointed in 1935 by the Department of Agriculture to survey drouth conditions. Other members of the committee are A. E.

McClmonds of the government soil conservation service at Colorado Springs, Col., and James C. Foster of the resettlement administration at Amarillo, Tex.

Roots Crossed to Curb Enemies of Peach Tree

Washington, D. C.—Through a triumph of tree budding and grafting, the Department of Agriculture has developed a peach tree said to be immune from root-knot.

Root-knot, a disease which causes extensive damage to trees in the light sandy soils of the South and Southwest, is caused by the eel-worm, which lives in the soil and attacks the roots of the trees.

Two rootstocks for peaches, both so resistant to root-knot that they are virtually immune, have been introduced and tested by the department. Both promote vigorous growth of peach trees budded on them—also normal bloom and fruit.

Seedlings of the Shalil peach, a variety grown in the extreme northwestern part of India, were reported resistant in 1934. Further tests have confirmed its desirability, the department said.

The second rootstock, a hybrid, is from a cross between the Quetta nectarine and the Bolivian cling peach. The Shalil may be propagated from seed. The hybrid propagates readily from root cuttings.

Obtains Refund For Loss at Game

The officer who investigated two complaints to the sheriff's office on the part of people who claimed that they had lost money, playing games at the carnival Wednesday night, visited the grounds in company with the parties who made the complaints and secured a settlement, which, it is understood, was apparently satisfactory to the losers.

In the case of the man who claimed to have lost $8, the operator of the concession, according to the deputy, refunded $6, which he insisted was all that the complainant had coming to him. The Saugerties, R.D., man who said that he had dropped $5, was repaid part of that sum, after he had had some difficulty in locating the man whom he alleged had taken the money.

Government Stand On Steel Strike Spurs the Market

After many stock issues had hit new lows for the year, following the opening of the market Thursday there was a sharp rally as announcement was made that the federal government was intervening in the steel strike. At the close of the market all averages showed a gain over Wednesday's close. Industrials were up 1.88 points to 167.74 on the Dow-Jones average; rails gained 0.31, to 53.88 and utilities were up 0.07, to 26.13. There were gains in some commodities; corporate bonds were generally lower. Governments steady.

During the week ended June 16 New York city banks added $79,000,000 to their holdings of direct government obligations and there was a net gain of $24,000,000 in business loans.

The U. S. is reported ready to aid Premier Blum in repatriation of French capital by recommending much heavier taxation on foreign funds in this country and by locating and identifying French funds here.

New construction activities so far this month have shown the smallest rate of gain for any month this year. Engineering construction awards this week were highest since January 9, 1936—$80,380,000, compared with $57,621,000 year ago.

Newspaper stock held by U. S. publishers showed a large gain over same period in 1936; is seen as an indication that publishers are continuing to stock up.

Sharon Steel second quarter earnings are estimated in excess of $625,000, or around $1.50 a share, compared with $268,336, or 59 cents a share a year ago.

Walgreen Co. have indicated net profit for nine months ended June 30 of about $1,000,000, vs. about $1,750,000 in 1936 period.

General Motors Fisher Body unit plans construction of new plant at Trenton, N. J. Improvement, together with those previously announced, will cost $15,000,000.

Southern Pacific reports net operating income in May of $68,346, vs. $154,637 a year ago. Road had higher operating expenses and larger tax accruals.

Daily odd lot trading figures issued by SEC indicate that the small investor is buying on the falling market. During the week ended June 12 purchases exceeded sales each day, net purchases for the period totaling $3,961,169.

The President in a letter to Congress, supported Governor Meyers of the Farm Credit Administration in opposing continuation of low interest rates on Government farm loans. Saw in it a $40,000,000 unbudgeted cost to the government yearly.

ROOM IN FLAMES, GIRL
DIES IN PLUNGE TODAY

Albany, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—A young woman suffered fatal injuries early today when she jumped from a third story window to escape a fire. Policeman John Masko took Miss Betty Prodyna, 24, to a hospital, where she died without regaining consciousness. Masko said she apparently awoke to find her room in flames, was unable immediately to locate the door because of dense smoke, and leaped.

France Asks Standing.

London, June 18 (AP)—General Francisco Franco, the Spanish insurgent dictator, today asked Great Britain to grant him the belligerent rights which would give it a standing under international rules of war. Franco sent to Sir Henry Chilton, the British ambassador to Spain who now is at Hendaye, France, his petition for the belligerent rights, which also would permit him to establish a recognized blockade of government Spain, if his navy was strong enough to do so.

Would Exceed Budget

Albany, N. Y., June 18 (AP)—State Tax Commissioner Mark Graves predicted today that Governor Lehman's budget estimate of $92,000,000 as the state's share of income taxes would be exceeded by $12,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30. The commissioner estimated that personal income tax collections by the state would reach $120,000,000, of which $16,000,000 will be apportioned to localities.

Attacked Bandits.

Tokyo, June 18 (AP)—The Domei (Japanese) News Agency reported today Japanese troops had attacked 200 Chinese bandits near Harbin, Manchoukuo, killing 80 and seizing many rifles in an eight-hour battle.

Union Hose Meeting.

There will be a meeting of Union Hose tonight at 8:15 o'clock in the engine house.

New York, June 18 (AP)—Selected stocks extended their advance moderately in today's market but many others were kept in the background by profit selling.

While hopes for peace on the steel battlefield were a bit brighter, some traders raked in at least part of their gains on yesterday's rally.

In extremely slow dealings utilities and a few oils, rails and specialties were favored. The jumping steels and motors of Thursday were unable to repeat and there were numerous small losers near the final hour. Transfers were at the rate of about 780,000 shares.

Leading forward fractions to a point or so at the best—some slipped eventually—were Brooklyn Union Gas, North American, Electric Power & Light, American Water Works, American Power & Light, Public Service of N. J., Columbia Gas, Standard Oil of N. J., and California, Atlantic Coast Line, Great Northern, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, American Tobacco "B," Phelps Dodge, J. C. Penney, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, American Can, Kroger Grocery, Goodyear and Union Carbide.

Somewhat difficult going was encountered by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Woolworth, American Telephone, Du Pont, Anaconda, Kennecott and Cerro de Pasco.

Thinness of the market was exemplified by a delayed opening in Chrysler. A bid of 98 against an offer of 102 was finally printed on ticker tape. The first sale was 4,000 shares at 100 1/4, a decline of 2. It subsequently dropped under par but came back.

Maverick Will Open on June 24

An improved Maverick Theatre in Woodstock, celebrating Robert Elwyn's fourth year as production chief of the group, will open with "The Bishop Misbehaves" next Thursday evening, June 24. A cast of 18 players, including new and familiar faces, are now rehearsing daily for the opening night. An unusually fine selection of plays will show at the theatre during an eleven weeks' engagement.
Edward A. Milliken of Kingston will design this year's sets and Mr. Elwyn's technical staff is now busy getting the theatre ready for production.
Under the guidance of Mr. Elwyn the Maverick has gained an enviable reputation among summer playhouses. Its popularity has grown with each succeeding year until it has become recognized as one of the state's leading theatres of dramatic art.

Trixie, Dog, Dies

Waynetown, Ind., June 18 (AP)—Trixie, a little white dog which gained considerable prominence two years ago by delivering three puppies in a Caesarian operation, is dead, a victim of an anesthetic administered for a similar operation. A puppy born before the operation began also died. E. E. Livengood, Trixie's owner, said the triplets born with the first operation are still living.

Physical Training

Train your mouth to smile when the day is dark; your tongue to speak for the advancement of humanity; your nose not to sniff at those beneath you; your ears to hear nothing but good of others; your eyes to see the needs of your fellow-men; your hands to supply those needs, and your feet to walk always on the upward path, though stony and steep.—Gerald Gray.

Roaming the swamps and morasses of the world a million years ago were prehistoric monsters unbelievable in size and strength. During the Pan American Exposition, which runs in Dallas from June 12 through October 31, these same monsters will again roam "The World a Million Years Ago," one of the many huge concessions which line the half-mile long La Rambla (midway) of the 1937 international fair.

He was born at Hudson, the son of Bernard Geisler and his wife, Charlotte Freilewek Geisler, both of Germany. On August 3, 1884, he married Elizabeth Dauch at the home of her parents at Mount Meenagera. Mrs. Geisler died about four years ago. Deceased was a member of the local Reformed Church. Surviving are one son, Harry Geisler, of Beacon; one brother, Frank Geisler, of Ellenville; two sisters, Mrs. Kate Hoffman, of Devon, Conn., and Mrs. Mary Smith, of Naugatuck, Conn. Several nieces and nephews. Funeral services were held from his late home on Monday, the Rev. Perry Van Slyke, officiating. Interment in the Faintekill cemetery.

The funeral services for Frank Henkel, who died last Monday evening, were held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edward Schmidt in Sileghsburg, yesterday afternoon at 2:30. The services were conducted by the Rev. Philip Goertz, pastor of the Port Ewen Reformed Church. The services were largely attended by his many relatives and friends who came to pay their last respects to one whom they admired. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes testifying to the high esteem in which he was held in this community. The bearers were John and Edward Schmidt, Frank Henkel and Fred Wille. Interment was in the family plot in Mountain View cemetery in Saugerties where the committal services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Goertz.

Impressive funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock Mrs. Christina Leedecke Schline, wife of Christopher Schline at the Kukuk Memorial Funeral Home, 167 Tremper avenue. The services were largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The Rev. Russell Ganzle, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, of which Mrs. Schline was a member, officiated. There were many floral offerings banked about the casket, silent testimony of the love and esteem in which she was held by her many friends. Mrs. Schline died at her home 42 Shufeldt street after an illness of about three months. Her passing was doubly sorrowful because her mother, Mrs. Mary Leedecke, died on June 3. Bearers were John Romulus, Kenneth Lowe, Harry Lowe, and Fred Weber, all nephews of the deceased. Burial was in Mt. Marion cemetery.

The Church Softball League contest between the Albany Avenue Baptists and First Presbyterians, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed.

Arthur H. Brew Dies Thursday, He Was Soldier, Policeman

Arthur H. Brew of 79 West Union street, a bank guard, and ex-serviceman with an outstanding record for World War service, died Thursday night at the Kingston Hospital after an illness with which he was stricken the latter part of May.

Surviving are his wife, formerly Alice Lowe, and two children, a son, Arthur H. Jr., and a daughter, Northe Louise Brew, at home; also his mother, Mrs. Herbert Brew, of Burlington, Vt. His birthplace, and a sister, Mrs. Ethel Newton, of the Bronx.

For 10 years Mr. Brew served as a special policeman on the Kingston police department, the last four of which he put in as a bank guard, stationed at the several banking institutions in this city. His position brought him in contact with many and he made a host of friends who will learn with regret of his death. "I was shocked to hear of Officer Brew's death this morning," said Chief J. Alan Wood of the police department. "He was a good officer, faithful, dependable and courteous, always ready to answer the call of duty."

Before joining the police department, Mr. Brew was employed at the Orpheum Theatre. Prior to that he was with the old Derrenbacher Candy Co., the first place he worked when he came to Kingston from Burlington.

Officer Brew's discharge from the United States Army, after the World War, was one of the most complimentary ever issued to a soldier. He served in eight major sectors, including the Toul, Aisne, Marne, St. Mihiel and Verdun. He enlisted at Burlington on July 30, 1915, and was discharged as a sergeant of infantry on April 28, 1919, character, excellent.

Mr. Brew was a member of the American Legion, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Brotherhood of Trinity M. E. Church. His funeral will be held from his late home, 79 West Union street, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Montrose cemetery. Both the Legion and V. F. W. will give him the last rites of a soldier.

Red is "Life Light."

Mr. Brew was a member of the red color of danger signals and the new fall dresses for women is the "life light" which makes existence on earth possible, the Smithsonian Institution said today. Dr. E. D. McAllister of the Smithsonian and Dr. Lewis H. Elliot of the Boyce Thompson Institute declared they had found that the greatest stimulus to the growth of plants is given by deep red light.

Social Justice
Council Plans

Organization of a new 16 point program for an Ulster County Social Justice Council has been started, according to George Nichols of Rosendale, who says its duty will be to move against imperialism, fascism, Nazism, Communism and Internationalism, working for law and order.

Mr. Nichols' announcement states that every public official will be treated as a public servant, not as a master; also that his record will be "scrutinized," and courtesy demanded of him by public seeing information concerning public property.

"No office holder, member of any political town committee, etc., can hold office in the council or seek endorsement from the council for any candidate," he stated, "since the council is to be a fact finding body."

Mr. Nichols says he'll gladly furnish information to any one interested, and urges registration in the council, which he concludes will "seek to correct the abuses and injustices so prevalent wherever they exist in Ulster in fields of economy, civilization, journalism, education, sociology, finance, industry, public utilities or local government."

The size of his army was not reported. He gave as his grievance merely the assertion he was being harassed by the government.

man's hobby was the cultivation of grapes.

Upon awakening this morning, his widow said, Doumergue seemed to be feeling well and showed no sign of illness. A little later, however, he suddenly told his wife he felt ill. He fainted and died without regaining consciousness.

Embolism Blamed

The doctor who was hastily called into attendance said death was due to an embolism.

So complete was the former president's attachment to his birthplace that he and his wife had made short visits here every two or three months since his retirement from the premiership. Usually they motored from their Tournefeuille home.

Doumergue will be buried beside his father and mother in the family vault which he built amid his beloved vineyards about 10 years ago. Government officials in Paris indicated that the cabinet would consider funeral arrangements today. Doumergue may be accorded a state ceremony, a military procession and a funeral oration by a member of the government.

Brown Denies Being On Murder Spot

ed the hatchet it struck her in the head and cut her and blood ran from the wound," said Brown.

Brown said she asked him to dress the wound and she said she would have him arrested next day and get him locked up and make him serve 10 to 20 years.

Threatened Arrest

Again on April 7 late, or the early morning of April 8, he said he saw her at Central Hotel. It might have been 12:30 or 1 o'clock. Jack Seiken, Helen Bennett and three men were there. The three men whom he did not know were at a table with Helen talking. Brown said she told him then that she was going to have him locked up in the morning. The three men then put him out of the hotel. That was about 1 o'clock.

"Had you been drinking?" asked Mr. Conway.

"Yes," replied Brown. "I had been drinking before and at the hotel. I had drunk Royal Bengal whiskey, straight rye," said the witness.

From the hotel he returned to Rappaport and undressed and went to bed. He was awakened by the first fire engine going past and he got up and dressed, he said, and went to the fire. He went down Center street to Summit street and out Pine street. He stopped at the Osterhoudt place and saw Mr. Osterhoudt. He believed the fire first was at Osterhoudt's. He spoke to Osterhoudt about the fire being so close and stayed about five minutes at the fire talking to people and then left. This was 3:05 or 3:10 o'clock on the morning of April 8. He went to the home of John Damms on Mill street. Damms asked where the fire was and he told him and Brown said he asked Damms to get him a pint of whiskey but Damms said it was too late or too early to get any bootlegger out of bed so Brown said he left and returned to his home at Rappaport. There he put on his tie and overcoat and left.

Wore No Overcoat

When he went to the fire he had not worn his overcoat.

The overcoat is in evidence and is alleged to contain spots of blood.

He went to the Levine residence and decided to go to Port Jervis and take a vacation for a few days out of town because of the threat Helen Bennett had made to have him arrested the next morning.

He said Levine and Rappaport agreed to take him and they left shortly before 4 o'clock.

"Had you had anything to drink after you left Damms?" asked counsel.

"Yes, half of a half pint," replied Brown.

The morning of April 15 he said he was at Orange County Farms. He went there from the hills about 10:50 o'clock. He had been on the hills for about four days without food. The hill overlooked the farms.

The previous Sunday he had been at the farms until about noon and after eating had started for Goshen when he met the "traveling men" and they showed him a paper.

"I had started for Goshen but because as I left the Orange County Farms where I had lodged overnight, that Sunday three men told me to be careful if I went to Goshen because they were looking for a man from Ellenville for the murder of two people. They gave me the paper and there was me," said Brown. He said the paper contained his picture.

He returned to the farm over Sunday night and Monday morning left for the hills.

Stayed in Mountains.

"I stayed in the mountains because if people see me they kill me. I think about what to do and I think maybe I would get in touch with my employers, but then I thought no, the longer I stay away it looks more like I am guilty so I gave myself up," said Brown.

He told of going to the Orange Farms and seeing Mrs. King and a man in the office. He said he asked the sheriff he called and requested that the state troopers be not called. "My name is Charles James Brown, and they want me in Ellenville for murder," he said he told Mrs. King.

"Do you mean it?" she said. Then he told of awaiting the sheriff's arrival and thing while he waited.

"She had my picture alongside her desk and she could not tell if it was me or not. That was before I asked her to call the sheriff," said Brown. Sheriff Schoonmaker arrived in about half an hour and "grabbed"

defendant and put him in the car and started for Goshen.

On the way Brown said Sheriff Schoonmaker said "Why did you kill these people, you must have been crazy," Brown said he made no reply.

Then he said Sheriff Schoonmaker said, "what did you do with your money you had when you left Ellenville?"

Brown said he replied he had been robbed of his money in Port Jervis. Brown told how he worked for $7 or $8 a week in Ellenville and a little extra at times. He got his board and room and some clothing. When he came to Ellenville last year he had about $25 or $30 with him. He saved money from time to time and put it under a trunk at the Rappaport house. On April 8 he went to the house and took that money from under the trunk before he left for Port Jervis.

At this point a recess was taken for noon.

Test Must Be Made

Dr. J. S. Taylor, city pathologist and in charge of the city laboratory, was the first witness called for the defense when court opened. He was called for the purpose of disputing testimony given by Dr. Kirschberg, expert for the prosecution, as to tests made to determine whether blood found on the pinion gear which it is alleged was used to murder the Handlemans was human blood or not, also whether blood on the floor was human blood.

Dr. Taylor said that if the serum used to make the test was not properly prepared or properly tested before use it would affect the conclusion of the test. He said tests could and should be made to determine the serum's quality before a test was made. He said if the serum was tested by human blood alone as a control it would not excite animal blood. Some high types of animals would be found to react to the test for human blood. However, he said further tests might be made to determine definitely whether the blood was human blood or some high type of monkey blood.

If it were to be definitely determined that blood was human blood a complete test would show it. The quality of serum received from the State Health Department he said had been found to be uniformly reliable by himself, but he said to be positive certain control tests should be made before a positive result could be known.

Jacob Seiken of Ellenville was called as the defense second witness. He said he was at Central Hotel on April 7 and early morning of April 8. He saw Brown in the grill about 12 or 12:30 o'clock talking to Helen, an employee. He did not know her name except as Helen. She was colored. He said he had his back turned to the grill but as he turned he saw Brown and Helen and heard her say, "now Charlie you get away from me, I am working." He said he then led Brown into the hall and told him the best thing he could do was to stay away from the place. This was about 12:30 o'clock.

John Damms of Mill street, Ellenville, was called. He knew Brown. About 2:30 o'clock on the morning of April 8 Brown came to his house and asked to come in. Brown stayed a few minutes and there was some conversation and then Brown left. The conversation was not brought out as the prosecution objected to it.

There was no cross examination of either Damms or Seiken.

HAD NO REGISTRATION OR OPERATOR'S LICENSE

Primus Covington, North Carolina negro, who has been spending 10 days in the Ulster county jail because of his inability to produce registration papers for a car he was driving, was again taken before Justice John Watzka this morning to answer to a second charge, that of operating a car without having a license. He was fined $5, paid the fine and was released.

When arrested June 8 at East Kingston Covington said that he had left his car registration at home, but at last reports he had been unable to produce it. He came to East Kingston to work in the brickyard, having before that been employed at Marlborough.

Names Named In Tax Dodge Quiz

Bahamas, the head of the intelligence unit said that Kenneth Solomon, one of the most prominent attorneys on the islands, was instrumental in organizing perhaps half the corporations set up there.

Irey said that Philip Brenner, a special agent of the intelligence unit, had gone to the Bahamas to look into the establishment of corporations there.

The building used by Solomon, Irey said, was "plastered from foundation to roof" with name plates of corporations. The structure, he added, was one of the "major curiosities" to tourists.

A wave of laughter rolled through the chamber as he mentioned that fact.

Not An American

White-haired Representative Treadway (R., Mass.) asked about Solomon's nationality.

Irey said so far as he knew Solomon never had been an American citizen.

Since the start of 1934, however, he said about 122 corporations had been created. These, he added, did not include those definitely identified as for legitimate purposes.

As examples of some of the firms, he named Southern Securities, Ltd.; Foley Securities, Ltd.; United Securities, Ltd.; Foreign Investments, Ltd.; Bahamas, Ltd.; Schick Industries, Ltd.; Schick Shaver, Ltd.; and Schick International, Ltd.

Undersecretary Roswell Magill of the treasury said the names of stockholders would be supplied to the extent that they were available from Bahamas stock records.

The cases have been verified, he added, "so far as is humanly possible."

SUFFERED 40 YEARS FROM CONSTIPATION

"For 40 years, I had been praying for a lasting remedy for constipation and its evils. Finally, I tried Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since that time (nearly 10 years ago), I have not taken any medicine. Have been well and entirely free from constipation."—Mrs. I. H. Kendig, R. F. D. No. 2; Lancaster, Penna.

Don't let common constipation ruin your life. You can end it safely without using drugs that soon lose their effectiveness.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—with every meal in severe cases. Serve as a cereal with milk or fruit, or cook into appetizing recipes. ALL-BRAN absorbs more than twice its weight in water and gently clears away the wastes that cause headaches, tiredness and serious illness.

The vitamin B in ALL-BRAN helps tone up the entire intestinal tract. Buy ALL-BRAN from your grocer. Guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

New Hope to Free Bodies in Air Wreck

Salt Lake City, June 18 (AP)—Men with shovels and picks chopped today at glacial snow and ice they believe separate them by but a few feet from the frozen bodies of seven airplane occupants killed in a mountain crashup last December 15.

Inside the crushed cabin of the Western Air Express liner, at the base of a 1,000-foot cliff in the Wasatch Mountains, they whittled at snow that had hardened to coarse, opaque ice.

"Some of the bodies may be in that cabin, under the snow," said search director Frank Eastman of Western Air Express, the concern which owned the plane.

Other workers chopped outside at hardened snow that only two days ago melted sufficiently to reveal the presence of the cabin.

In the belief several of the bodies will be recovered not later than tomorrow, searchers lowered half a dozen large sacks, in which the dead will be placed, on a windlass from the top of the cliff.

Today
Broadway: "Call It A Day". Warner Brothers have constructed a picture at the Broadway, a family play that breathes reality through its spirited and capable work of Edward Young, Alice Brady and Ian Hunter. Directed by Archie Mayo, the cast also includes Olivia De Havilland, Frieda Inescort, Peggy

Wood, Beryl Mercer and Bonita Granville.
Kingston: "Melody for Two" and "That I May Live". Double features continue on the Kingston screen, the first a melodic effort with the singing James Melton starred and supported by Patricia Ellis, the second a love story of average scope with Rochelle Hudson.
Orpheum: "Girl Loves Boy" and "Ranger Courage." Eric Linden and Cecelia Parker hold hands and make love in the first of the Orpheum features, an average little romance with a surprise ending. "Ranger Courage" is the other attraction with Bob Allen starred in a rapid action tale of the western plains.

Tomorrow
Broadway: "Kid Galahad." Offering some of the most moving prize ring sequences ever seen on a screen, this thrill packed drama of a young fighter who seeks his way to the top of the pugilistic profession is melodrama of real worth to those who like their movies brisk and fast paced. It also tells of a hard boiled promoter who helps the young fighter to success and who dies in the final scene. A star studded cast offers Edward G. Robinson, Bette Davis and Humphrey Bogart. It is one of the best of the current films.

Kingston: "Parnell" and "Hell's Angels." Parnell, the uncrowned king of Ireland and one of history's most tragic figures, is portrayed by Clark Gable in this film that tells of Ireland's struggle for freedom and how an unhappy and ill fated love affair wrecked a man's dream when his cause seemed almost within his grasp. A M-G-M presentation with Myrna Loy. "Hell's Angels" revives the memory of Jean Harlow for this Howard Hughes story of the war brought her into film prominence. It was a motion picture masterpiece of year's gone by and the fight scenes above the clouds started a new vogue in film technique. Ben Lyon and James Hall are also in the cast. Orpheum: Same.

Hollywood
Sights And Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Judith Allen feels no excess friendliness for her second ex-husband, Jack Doyle, but she says she could have been persuaded to do that British picture with him if they'd met her price — $10,000, plus expenses for herself and mother.

Judith Allen

"They wanted to capitalize on my personal affairs," she said, "and that's worth money. Oh, I wouldn't have minded working with him. I wouldn't have had to see him except on the sets—strictly business."

In Frontier Picture
This was novel, finding an unfriendly divorcee in Hollywood. So many of our divorces turn sugary after the charges and blows have been exchanged in court. Some of our best ex-wives, too, co-star in pictures with their former legal flames Lombard and Powell did it swimmingly, so did Sullivan and Fonda—even if Ariel and Cabban couldn't get together. The Allen-Doyle combination—he's the Irish fighter—would have been interesting in the circumstances—a real test of Judith's acting talents.

Instead she's trying them out again in a series of four pictures for the new Standard company, leading with "The Deerslayer" of James Fenimore Cooper. Judith, who's had more real career than reel, is counting on the frontier-life yarn to accelerate the latter. She's been in pictures ever since DeMille gave her the big send-off, but she's aiming for the bigger features. A British tour amazed her—she hadn't known they liked her there.

Married Wrestler
Not even DeMille knew that his "discovery" for "The Day and Age" was really Mrs. Gus Sonnenberg until a reporter unearthed the facts. Gus was in town, and he spilled it when the publicity mill ground out a fabrication about a Gary Cooper romance with Mrs. Gus. Judith denied the marriage as long as she could, and then fled from DeMille's expected wrath. DeMille, remember, had billed her as a "virginal Diana." I thought DeMille always got sorer than a strike picket's heel when an actress fooled him that way, but Judith said he was kindly and paternal and even laughed about it as a joke on himself. As for Judith's mamma, I think the revelation must have been a relief. She'd been going to see Judith's movie four or five times a week, just sitting and looking, and never telling a soul that the girl was her own daughter.

Missing in Desert
Needles, Cal., June 18 (AP)—Vanished into the desert, Ernest A. Moross, wealthy Michigan mining operator, was hunted by baffled sheriff's deputies today. Mrs. Moross, her husband's companion during years of prospecting, said he drove away in a sedan at dawn yesterday from their luxurious motorized camp 14 miles east of Topoc, on the Colorado river.

Join these strips lengthwise, and the result—a spread of breath-taking loveliness and durability. Make it of string and even a tiny budget will wink at its cost. ## IT'S EASY TO DANCE WELL

Ask any man. He'll tell you good dancing is a girl's best bid for popularity. And it's easy to make your dancing smooth as a bird's flight.

Following simple diagrams teaches you popular steps and turns—balance and rhythm, too.

Glide into the basic waltz diagrammed here. It's just the forward waltz—1, step forward with left foot. 2, diagonally forward with right foot. 3, close left foot to right. Finish the square with the backward waltz—4, back on the right foot. 5, diagonally back with left. 6, close right foot to left.

Check Up On Balance

Repeat until your footwork is deft and smooth. Meanwhile check up on your balance. At the beginning and end of each basic waltz step, knees should be straight with weight evenly balanced over the balls of your feet. But when you step directly forward and again when you step directly back, slightly bend the knee of the supporting leg.

Other easy diagrams lead you into fascinating waltz turns. Then merrily on into the fox-trot, tango and rumba.

Our 40-page booklet, SOCIAL DANCING SELF-TAUGHT, is as helpful as a teacher. Diagrams and clear directions for 26 important steps. All about leading and following, too.

Send 15c for our booklet, SOCIAL DANCING SELF-TAUGHT, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

MODESTY.
There's a certain modest touch to bathing frocks and shorts this year. This coat, lined with toweling, and frock are fashioned of white linen printed in multi-color.

Parsons Search at Martha's Vineyard

Chilmark, Mass., June 18 (AP).—Spurred by information that a suspect might be involved in "tipping" state police that Mrs. Alice McDonnell Parsons, missing Stony Brook, N. Y., socialite, could be found here, troopers today intensified their investigation.

Sergeant Joseph Fratus, directing the investigation, reported to state police headquarters in Boston that two Federal Bureau of Investigation operatives told him a "good" description of the man who supplied the "tip" tallied with that of a suspect. The federal men, Fratus said, arrived here this morning to assist in the investigation.

Led by Fratus, seven troopers renewed efforts to find his anonymous informant, a man with an accent, who told him, in a call from a public telephone, "that Parsons woman who was kidnapped in New York can be located at Robinson's Camp at Menemsha," a Chilmark fishing village.

Mrs. Parsons vanished a week ago Wednesday. A note demanding $25,000 ransom was found in the family car after she disappeared.

Search of three Robinson camps here and one in nearby Gay Head proved fruitless, Fratus said, but police gained valuable information about their informant.

Fratus said police traced the call to a Chilmark fish market conducted by Captain Ernest Mayhew. Joseph Amancio, a clerk, described the caller as a man with an accent who rode in a New Jersey car. He rushed into the store, asked for the nearest telephone, entered the booth, asked for "emergency, police," Amancio said, then left as quickly as he had come.

Two women were in the car in which he drove away, the clerk said, one of them at the wheel.

SOME OLD VIEWS OF KINGSTON AND RONDOUT

Several prints of interest particularly to Kingston people are shown in the window of Fred J. Johnston's antique shop at 42 Main street.

One of them is a large engraving by Burleigh, which purports to show every house in Kingston in the early 80's. It shows strikingly the development and new building that has been done during the last 50 years.

A smaller picture—or rather, three pictures—gives three early views of Kingston. They were drawn from nature, according to the imprint, by B. Hess and were lithographed at Newburgh by Hess and J. R. Wiltse, being entered in 1852.

One view, the larger one, shows Rondout and is taken from somewhere near the mouth of the Rondout creek, men being shown loading a scow with marsh grass in the immediate foreground. Some half a dozen houses mark Slightsburg on the left. On the right are the cliffs, the docks, with a side wharf waiting to take on passengers, while numerous sloops, barges loaded with coal and other boats are shown on the creek. In the distance is the village with its various buildings, including at least two churches.

Another small view shows Kingston Point with a steamboat at the dock, apparently the "Prince," although the name is not plain. The dock at that time evidently was further up the river near where the oil tanks are at present located.

The third view shows a scene at the "Vielgt Bergh," mostly rocky cliffs and a few houses.

One Moslem was killed and 48 Moslems and two Sikhs were wounded when fighting broke out in Bazaars. The Sikhs claimed several Moslems stoned a Sikh funeral procession.
